

Parenting the Love & Logic Way®

NEW! Free preview session:

Fri., Jan. 14, 2022 | 9–10 a.m.

Weekly four-session class begins

Thurs., Jan. 20, 2022 | 9–11 a.m.

$165 per person, including workbook

All are welcome—parents, grandparents, educators, and those caring for children.

This course taught by Phylis Tomlinson, LPC, LMFT, ATR-BC, provides simple and practical techniques to help parents raise responsible children, have more fun parenting, and immediately practice changing their behavior and their child's actions. Have the group experience advantages of sharing and caring, and receive strategies for situations specific to your needs. Strategies are for parents of children of all ages through young adult.

Minimum of five participants required to make the class. Post Oak parents and prospective parents have priority registration.

For more information, contact Phylis Tomlinson at 713-253-9044 or phylistomlinson@gmail.com.

Register by paying Phylis via Venmo, Zelle, check, or cash.

Love and Logic is a parenting approach based on two principles:

- Allow children to grow through their mistakes.
- Allow children to learn from the consequences of their choices.

By using empathy, parents strengthen their relationship with their kids and give their kids the opportunity to learn how to make healthy decisions on their own.
